BY THEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—Police were continuing their search today for a man who held up the Keiser Branch of the Bank of Wilson Monday and escaped with about $3,000.

The gunman was described as being 5-foot-5, weighing about 150, and wearing unpressed khaki work clothes.

POW Wives Are Told They May Get News

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Pentagon has informed about 3,000 wives and parents of captured U.S. servicemen that North Vietnam may respond to private appeals for information about POWs, defense officials report.

Spokesmen said the armed services passed the word last week in an effort to keep American families abreast of developments involving prisoners or missing men presumed alive in Vietnam.

North Vietnam about the same time began accusing the United States of trying to whip up emotions among the relatives of POWs as a means of pressuring communist delegates at the Paris peace talks.

Defense officials say this was not their motive. The Pentagon, they say, was merely carrying out its responsibility to the families of POWs or missing men.

An officer acknowledged that the Pentagon was walking a fine line and leaving itself open to propaganda charges.

"But we were just informing people of Hanoi's willingness to answer letters from relatives writing on their own," he said.

As the Pentagon understands it, the North Vietnamese in Paris will accept private inquiries and receive relatives, pass the questions onto Hanoi and later forward any responses to the families.

The Pentagon says it knows of no responses receive by any of the several wives who first called upon the North Vietnamese delegation in Paris about three weeks ago.

Inmate Says He Was Lashed 11 Times

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A former Tucker Prison Farm inmate testified Monday that he received "at least 11 lashes" with a leather strap from Ernest Fletcher of Jonesboro while an inmate at Tucker.

Jerry Dean Ivens, 23, of San Bernardino, Calif., testified in U.S. District Court that the incident occurred in 1968.

Fletcher, a former warden at the prison, was indicted July 11, 1968 on charges alleging that he assaulted an inmate with a strap in 1966. The trial continues today.

Ivens said a four-line letter he wrote to his mother apparently prompted the beating.

States ratifying the treaty would have the right to verify the activities of other participating countries on the ocean floor, beyond the 12-mile limit, but "without interfering with such activities or otherwise infringing rights recognized under international law, including the freedoms of the high seas."

To soothe fears expressed by some countries which claim sovereignty beyond the 12-mile limit, the draft stressed that "nothing in this treaty shall be interpreted as supporting or prejudicing the position of any state party with respects to rights or claims which such state party may assert . . . related to waters off its coasts, or to the sea bed and ocean floor."

SAIGON (AP)—The chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff indicated today that he doesn't share Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott's expectation of major military developments in Vietnam soon.

The Pennsylvania senator said Monday there may be a breakthrough in the war in the next 60 to 90 days. He said the breakthrough could occur in either the diplomatic or military area but he "would shade it a little toward the military."

Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, ending a four-day visit to Vietnam, was asked at a news conference if any major military developments can be expected in the next 60 days.

"Well, you'd have to ask Gen. Giap that question," he replied. "I'm not in a position to answer it." He referred to Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap, North Vietnam's defense minister.

Wheeler also indicated there had been no major shift in American battlefield tactics.

Asked whether the recent low level of enemy activity had resulted in a scaling down of U.S. offensive operations and a shift toward a defensive posture, he replied that Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, the commander of American forces in Vietnam, is "following the policy that he was following when I was here in July."

Wheeler said this is not so much a "defensive" policy as a "pre-emptive, protective course of action in line with the change in the enemy's tactics which have been quite marked."

U.S. military experts say this "pre-emptive" policy of widespread patrolling by small units has prevented enemy buildups for large-scale ground attacks and that the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese are now relying to a great extent on rocket and mortar attacks which keep their own casualties to a minimum.

The U.S. Command reported 21 enemy rocket and mortar attacks across South Vietnam during the past 24 hours, a drop from the two-day total of 72 reported during the weekend. Casualties reported included four Vietnamese civilians killed and 18 Vietnamese civilians and two American wounded.

Only light ground skirmishes were reported, with U.S. forces claiming 43 of the enemy killed. U.S. casualties were one killed and 11 wounded, the U.S. Command reported.

A government military training center 108 miles west of Saigon came under attack from North Vietnamese troops recently moved into the Mekong Delta and suffered 12 wounded before pushing the enemy back, South Vietnamese headquarters said. Four North Vietnamese were reported killed.

Some countries which claim sovereignty beyond the 12-mile limit, the draft stressed that "nothing in this treaty shall be interpreted as supporting or prejudicing the position of any state party with respects to rights or claims which such state party may assert . . . related to waters off its coasts, or to the sea bed and ocean floor."

Las Vegas Is Hit by Violence

By M. W. MENARON Jr.
Associated Press Writer

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP)—Scattered outbreaks of violence persisted early today on the dominantly Negro West Side of this casino city, but generally the turbulence of the past two nights had abated.

Authorities listed more than 100 arrests Monday night, 42 injuries—one of them serious—and property damage in the tens of thousands of dollars.

Young blacks roamed the area, hurling rocks and firebombs, shattering windows, looting a few stores and overturning cars.

As the violence spread, Mayor Oran Gragson imposed a 7 p.m. to 6 a.m. curfew, declared a state of emergency and asked Gov. Paul Laxalt to mobilize the National Guard.

The guardsmen assembled at their armories, but were not deployed.

The two nights of violence were the worst city officials could recall. There had been some earlier racial unrest at schools.

The trouble developed Sunday night after two Negro policemen stopped a black cab driver for a traffic check and a crowd gathered.

Authorities said this did not trigger the disturbances, however.

"There were no racial overtones in the beginning," Gragson said. "But after it got going, 'whites' wasn't welcome over there." There are about 30,000 Negroes among the 250,000 residents of greater Las Vegas.

Some fires broke out Sunday but the crowd was dispersed.

A crowd gathered again Monday and, as the violence intensified, more than 150 helmeted police officers and sheriff's deputies with shotguns sealed off the 40-block area, sweeping through it repeatedly.

The West Side is about a mile from the city's downtown section and about three miles from the Las Vegas Strip.

Tear gas was used frequently but with little success. A helicopter overhead used a spotlight to locate vandals.

Hardest hit was the Golden West Shopping Center, where much of the violence was centered.

Glass and merchandise littered the center's sidewalks and parking lot, which earlier Monday was the scene of a beating.

Two white youths were attacked by a group of Negroes, police said, and one of the whites was beaten unconscious.

than hurdles, then you can either accept or reject them. You are under nobody's spell.

"The generation gap has become a cliché, and youth itself has become an establishment. Where there are two establishments that don't understand each other, obviously there is no peace.

"The gap can be lessened only if people of all ages tell each other the facts—the straight facts. Where facts are known, there is understanding, where there is understanding there is friendship, and where there is friendship there is peace.

"But I feel that if the races and generations don't tell each other the truth and don't become more involved with each other in mutual understanding, civil war, a total disruption."

"My goal isn't to be a movie star but to be a good actress," she said.

Tall, willowy and earnest, she can appraise her possibilities coolly.

"My biggest virtue, I feel, is that I am capable, or will be, of doing what I set out to do—to express whatever talent I have for becoming a good actress."

"I also think I can see people well. I can look at people and feel their vibrations and know them as they are."

On the other side, nomination backers had prepared their defense of Haynsworth's civil rights decisions while a judge on the 4th U.S. Court of Appeals.

In making the trust announcement, the White House said the idea came from the wealthy South Carolina jurist himself and not from President Nixon who is fighting to win Senate confirmation of the nomination.

Haynsworth, contacted in South Carolina, confirmed he had made the suggestion to the administration last week. He said he had not thought out how the trust would work.

"But I'm agreeable to any agreement that would avoid any further suggestion of conflict of interest," he said.

Haynsworth has been attacked for ruling on cases involving firms in which he had financial connections.

In the past some executive appointees have established trusteeships while they have been in office, turning management of their financial affairs over to a trustee to avoid conflict of interest situations.

Both sides had hoped to get the reports out in time for Wednesday's meeting of the Judiciary Committee. The committee delayed action last week and there was mixed opinion whether it will vote on the nomination this time.

Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott, a committee member, indicated he would like to see the nomination brought to the floor quickly so debate could start, possibly early next week.

Scott also indicated for the first time he may be willing to vote for confirmation although he does not plan to floor manage it.

Found Guilty for Disobeying Draft Order

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—David A. Petty, 22, Monday was found guilty in U.S. District Court here for disobeying an order from the Pine Bluff Draft Board to report for two years of civilian work at the University of Arkansas Medical Center in lieu of military duty.

Judge Richard M. Duncan sentenced Petty to three years in prison, but deferred the start of the sentence until Oct. 20. A jury deliberated only 12 minutes before returning its verdict.

Petty, a member of Jehovah's Witness, formerly lived at Watson Chapel but moved to Shreveport, La., in 1967 where he now lives.

The Pine Bluff board classified him as a conscientious objector, but he contended that he should be exempted from any service as a minister.

Petty, an assembly line worker for a firm that makes deep fat fryers for restaurants, contended that he was active enough in the work of the Jehovah's Witnesses to qualify him for a ministerial exemption.

VICTORY HD CLUB MEETS

"Fix It," a leader's report on repair by Mrs. Audrey Hampton, showed the Victory Extension Homemakers how to save electricity, keep the wiring in good condition, and cut down on fire hazards caused by neglect or carelessness on the homemakers part. At the club meeting October 1 in the home of Mrs. Dexter Alford 11 members and Home Economist Dolores McBride answered the roll call by telling "When I wished I could fix it."

After the president, Mrs. Cecil Smith, had called the meeting to order, Mrs. Pearl Cash played the piano for the group to sing "Pack Up Your Troubles" and "My Wild Irish Rose." For the devotion the hostess read Romans 8:5-9 and the Homemakers Prayer was repeated in unison. "Key Holder" was Mrs. Clayborn Rowe's eye-opener.

Mrs. Jack Sumpter won the Surprise Package. A poem, "The Ghost Will Get You," which Mrs. Cash read, set the stage for the fun time of Story Telling directed by Mrs. Eva McKinney. Secret Pal gifts went to Mrs. Jack Sumpter for her anniversary and to Mrs. Audrey Hampton for her birthday.

The hostess served a sandwich plate and iced drinks. The November meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Joyce Dean Colburn at the new time of 1:30 p.m.

Ike Dollar Unveiling This Week

By ROBERT A. HUNT
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Plans to unveil a new Eisenhower dollar coin on the late president's birthday next week appear on the shelf, the victim of a House fight over silver content and procedures.

The bill to create the new coin fell about 30 votes shy of the two-thirds majority it needed Monday for hurry-up passage.

More Republicans than Democrats voted against the bill after GOP Rep. H. R. Gross of Iowa charged "you would be doing the memory of President Eisenhower no favor to mint a dollar made perhaps of scrap metal."

The bill would authorize minting of a new copper and nickel clad dollar coin honoring Eisenhower. It also would let the Treasury Department remove silver from the Kennedy half dollars by 1971—the coins now are 40 percent silver.

President Nixon had urged enactment by next Tuesday, Dwight D. Eisenhower's 79th birthday.

tee approved the bill last Friday under procedures criticized by opponents who said they hardly had time to advance their idea to put silver in the dollar coin.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The Doris Day Show, the CBS situation comedy that underwent radical—and needed—repairs over the summer.

Miss Day is wearing smart clothes, getting involved in urban situations, eating lobster thermidor and steering clear of the barn and the chicken yard that loomed so large in the series last season. The actress is an excellent comedienne and given half a chance could pull off an amusing series. But if Monday's show is any indication, she could use some more imaginative writing.

The story had Doris, now the secretary of a magazine writer—he dictates what sound like high school themes—helping her boss escape a predatory woman. This leads to silly stuff, including having him introduce Doris as his wife. This leads to much sneaking around our heroine's farm home. It is all very innocent and far-fetched but perhaps the remodeled series is still on its shake-down cruise.

Network television tonight contains an example of a programming practice that deprives and infuriates the viewer and carves up the audience each network seeks. Both CBS and NBC have important specials scheduled in conflicting periods—the first "CBS Playhouse" drama of the season and the NBC News Department's 2 1/2-hour recapitulation of the decade soon to end. Since reality special programs do not come along every night, it is hard to understand why they could not be scheduled so that viewers could see both.

"Appalachian Autumn," the CBS special, is Earl Hamner's 90-minute original television play about an American poverty pocket and a proud, close-knit family trying to survive in an area whose one industry, coal mining, has closed down.

The drama, seen in a preview, presents a warm portrait of the big Harper clan. The proud miner father who refuses relief money but instead risks his life scratching coal from an abandoned mine; his affectionate and patient wife; and children including a talented son with a special feeling for wet clay.

NBC's "From Here to the Seventies," 8:30-11 EDT, takes a look at many of the stirring and tragic events of the recent turbulent years with commentaries by staff newsmen on war, peace, moonwalks, assassinations and dissent.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

THIS IS A PROBLEM?

Dear Helen: I am getting married in a couple of months, and my fiancé likes to do all the housework.

Ted has lived along for three years and before that was in the Army. He keeps a neat apartment.

He says if he gets home from work before I do he'll have supper on the table. Every time I start to mop the floor or dust, he takes over. I don't mind once in a while, when I am sick or something, but I want to be in charge of my house. Would I be off base to tell him the kitchen-cleaning detail is off-limits?—CONCERNED

Dear Con: I think you'd be off your rocker!

When husband and wife both work, they should share equal responsibility for housecleaning, cooking, etc. If your man runs true to form, he'll happily allow you access to broom and range (that's where husbands and boy friends differ), but if you get huffy and don't praise him for his help, you may soon be writing, "Ted used to be so good around the house, and now he doesn't lift a finger."—H.

Dear Helen: How can you ever make amends to a girl who won't tell you what you did wrong? My wife suddenly stops speaking. She makes me feel so little I could walk under a pregnant dashund. I check back on all the things I should feel guilty over—sometimes I even confess all the things I should feel guilty sometimes I even confess things she doesn't know about, which makes her mad on two scores. I stay in the dog house for a couple of days, and then everything is okay again. If I ask her what was wrong, she says, "Oh, nothing. . . ." and sighs like how could I be so stupid? We've been married six months, are both 21, but she's aging me fast!

Would you please tell women, Helen, to level with their husbands? We prefer a good fight to the silent treatment.—DOUG

Dear Doug: I tell 'em, and tell 'em but they only listen to what they want to hear.

So again: Cals: Let it all hang out. Be honest, expressive, open. Don't silently build little rifts into big chasms. If you think things you can't say, perhaps it's because you realize how foolish they'd sound, out loud.

And here are some hints for husbands of pouting pigeons:

1. Affectionate teasing, well timed, can head off wifely silence. She'll forgive a lot, if you are lovable. And afterwards she may even tell you what she has forgiven!

2. Pretend you don't notice. It's awfully hard staying mad at someone who isn't aware of it. She'll either explode and tell you WHY you're a skunk, or realize you aren't one after all.

3. If she persists, deliver an ultimatum: "Look, honey, it's 7 p.m. By 8 p.m. you'll get over your sulks and tell me what's wrong or I'll— a.) "Walk right out the front door!" b.) "Give you the spanking you deserve!" c.) "Call your mother!" d.) "Invite my mother for a two-week visit." (Take your choice.)

Above all, Doug (and this goes for wives too) don't let the silent treatment become a habit in your household. Marriages can thrive on good healthy fights, but few survive non-communication. —H.

Bobcats to Return to Home Field

By RALPH ROUNTON
Star Sports Writer

After the important 20-6 victory over Malvern in the 4-AA Western Divisional opener last Friday, the Hope Bobcats return home this Friday night to host the tough North Little Rock Oak Grove Hornets at Hammons Stadium in a non-conference game.

Hope will be favored, but the Hornets are expected to provide a tough battle in the Bobcat's schedule before next week's collision with the high-flying Fairview Cardinals. What Coach Ronnie Higgins will be trying to do this week is to bring the Cats up for a big offensive effort against Oak Grove, with the defense trying for another shutout.

The fear is that Hope could lose its edge after winning four straight games. On the contrary, Coach Higgins believes that "we still haven't reached our peak, though it's good to be 4-1."

Without a mental letdown and with a proud performance from a team that is just now learning how to win week after week, the Bobcats could roll it up. However, that mental attitude could hold Hope down into a real battle with the fired-up Hornets similar to Arkansas' encounter with TCU last Saturday.

Quarterback Ronnie Massaneli has now completed 11 of 15 passes in the last two victories, and the one interception he has suffered in that period was on the opponent's five-yard line. Perhaps his best pass of the season came against Malvern, when he launched a 48-yard aerial to end David Still at the Leopard five.

Still caught that pass diving outside of the two secondary men who had him well covered, but were in no position for the letter-perfect throw. Two plays later Massaneli sneaked over for the final touchdown that sealed the 20-6 win, and it was the junior's first six-point play of the year.

Opposing defenses have held tailback Artis Martin scoreless for two weeks now, but they haven't been able to hold him below 100 yards per game yet. Through five contests, Artis has run the ball 91 times for 576 yards, or over 6.3 yards per carry and 115.2 yards each game.

Those backs have been highly appreciative of the offensive line, too, which clearly satisfied the coaches against the ultra-tough Malvern defense which had held most opponents below 150 yards total offense, and the Cats totaled over 350 yards.

On defense, linebacker Steve Harris was shaking his head after making the 41-yard interception for Hope's first TD. On the sidelines afterward, he walked around saying to everybody, "I can't believe it. I can't believe it."

Oak Grove will attempt to move the ball on the stingy Hope defenders Friday night, but the Bobcats are now in high gear and haven't allowed but 8 points in the last four games. All eleven of the defense are due for commendation, and Coaches Willie Tate and Johnny McMurry have been doing an excellent job with the front line and the secondary, respectively.

Scouting reports reveal that Oak Grove is primarily a passing team, and they have hit the bomb in every game. However, QB Jack Dollarhide is a doubtful starter after suffering rib injuries in last Friday's 41-6 loss to Joe T. Robinson, one of the top-ranked Class A teams in the state.

What Hope will shoot for Friday night is an explosive offensive show to put the defense in good position, as the scores now for the Bobcats become objects of comparison in the Class AA rankings put out each Wednesday.

Met Power Puts Them in World Series

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Maybe the graffiti scratched into the center field wall said it best: "Met Power."

Maybe outfielder Cleon Jones said it best: "We're the greatest team in the world right now. Nobody can stop us... Atlanta, Baltimore... nobody. We're gonna win it all."

Maybe the statistics said it best: Three consecutive victories over Atlanta by 9-5, 11-6 and 7-4 scores, 37 hits, 27 runs, 6 homers.

Whoever or whatever said it best, the incredible implausible, impossible Mets of New York have trampled Atlanta in three straight on the way to the National League pennant and qualified to meet the Baltimore Orioles in the World Series starting next Saturday.

That there will be a four-day layoff before the resumption of play for a team that begins in every way to appear invincible can only serve to temper the feelings of those who reveled in Monday's glorious moments.

They include the galaxy of Met heroes who were drowned in the champagne shower in the jam-packed dressing room, homer hitters Wayne Garrett, Tommy Agee and Ken Boswell and pitcher Nolan Ryan, who limited the Braves to three hits in seven innings.

And they include the galaxy of Mets fans who poured out of the stands in full force following the final out and again stole everything in sight to take home as souvenirs — on Home plate, the pitcher's rubber, the bases.

Why they did it is simple, explained one young fan, 17-year-old George Defazio of Patchogue, N.Y.

"We did it because we want part of the Mets—because the Mets are the greatest."

Only the Orioles can quarrel with that now. And maybe not even the team with Frank Robinson, Boog Powell and Brooks Robinson, who romped past Minnesota in three straight, will be able to win the argument.

For at this moment in history, after seven years during which they were the uncrowned crown princes of baseball, the picture has irrevocably changed.

These Mets have pitching. And when they don't have pitching, they have hitting. They proved during the regular season they have the former in aces Tom Seaver and Jerry Koosman and they proved in this playoff series they had the latter.

Seaver couldn't go the distance. Koosman couldn't go the distance. And Monday Gary Gentry couldn't go the distance. It didn't matter. A .327 team batting average took care of everything.

"When we start hitting like that," said Koosman, "there's no way anyone is going to beat us."

No one is going to beat them the way Ryan pitched in relief, either. He took over in the third inning with the Braves threatening after they already had pulled ahead 2-0 on a single by Tony Gonzalez and Hank Aaron's third homer of the playoffs.

The 22-year-old right-hander took over with a 1-2 count on Rico Carty and struck him out. He then issued an intentional walk to Orlando Cepeda that loaded the bases and proceeded to strike out Cleto Boyer and get Bob Didier on a soft fly.

"The turning point was when Ryan came in and stopped them without a run," said Manager Gil Hodges. "I thought if it came down to hitting, we'd be the underdogs."

Hodges, however, was wrong. He got both the pitching he needed, from Ryan, and the hitting he needed, too.

The Mets made it 2-1 when Agee homered in the third inning and pulled ahead 3-2 in the fourth when Boswell slammed a two-run shot. Cepeda temporarily put the Braves back in front with a two-run homer, but then the most improbable of Met heroes came through.

Wayne Garrett, the young red-headed third baseman, stepped up in the Mets' half of the fifth inning and matched his entire home run output for the regular season by hitting a two-run shot that pulled the Mets ahead 5-4.

They didn't need any more. But they got two, on a run-producing single by Boswell later in the inning and a run-scoring single by Agee in the final later.

And so there are no more National League world to conquer. It's the American League's turn now to get a look at the

New Mets. They will begin Saturday. And they may be surprised. "I think," said an obviously disappointed Aaron in the Braves' dressing room, "they are going to beat them." So do the Mets.

Orioles Look for Another Wine Party

By GORDON BEARD
Associated Press Sports Writer
BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles, the only major league baseball team with a traveling wine steward, are looking forward to their third and final champagne party of the 1966 season.

Party No. 2 was held Monday after the Orioles bombed the Minnesota Twins 11-2, winning the American League pennant with a three-game sweep in the best-of-5 playoff series.

On hand in Minneapolis: St. Paul to assist with the cork-popping was Omar Aparicio, a wine steward from a downtown restaurant who is a cousin of Chicago White Sox shortstop Luis Aparicio.

The Orioles, who won a near-record 109 games while taking the Eastern Division title, now go against the New York Mets in the World Series which opens Saturday in Baltimore.

For the third time in nine months, a major sport matches teams from Baltimore and New York in postseason play. New York won the previous encounters—the Jets upsetting the Colts in the football Super Bowl and the Knicks eliminating the Bulls from the National Basketball Association playoffs.

"We're going to reverse that trend," said veteran outfielder Frank Robinson, the Orioles' leader. Referring to a possible four-game sweep, atop the play-off string, added, "Would you believe seven straight?"

Coach Billy Hunter was more emphatic, flatly predicting a sweep for the Orioles — who flattened the Los Angeles Dodgers four in a row while winning the 1966 World Series.

Manager Earl Weaver was more cautious, but confident.

"The Mets are a complete mystery," Weaver said. "They hit about .241 during the regular season and then turned around in the National League playoffs and beat one of the best hitting teams (Atlanta) at its own game."

"But I have very much confidence in my pitchers," Weaver said. "I plan to use Mike Cuellar in the first game, followed by Dave McNally and Jim Palmer."

Cuellar allowed three runs in eight innings of Baltimore's 4-3, 12-inning first game victory. McNally hurled a sparkling 1-0 three-hitter in 11 innings and Palmer coasted while allowing 10 hits in the windup.

During the regular season, the three pitchers combined to win 59 decisions while losing 22.

Monday's postgame celebration was relatively mild, even when compared with the division-clinching party, indicating the Orioles were already looking ahead.

"Don't waste it," Robinson said when a couple players started the traditional head-soaking routine with the champagne. "Waste it the next time around."

The Orioles, who finished the regular season in a hitting slump, rapped off 18 safeties Monday—including five by Paul Blair and four by Don Buford.

The outbreak could be timely, even though it didn't match the Mets' output of 37 hits and 27 runs in their three-game sweep.

The Orioles will have two days off before resuming practice Thursday.

"The two extra inning games took a lot out of the guys," Weaver said. "Some of them have to have tight legs after that."

Weaver, celebrating a pennant in his first full season as a major league manager, said he hadn't had too much time to think about the Mets.

Contemplating the matchup, however, he said, "The Mets are as worthy an adversary as any team the National League could put up. They won the most games. I would have hated to play a team which had a lesser record than the Mets."

While the Orioles are getting ready, Omar Aparicio will be priming his corkscrew and awaiting orders on where to report.

Manager in Tribute to His Orioles

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) — "Amazing!" Earl Weaver croaked. "Just amazing!"

He wasn't talking about the New York Mets.

Weaver, celebrating the greatest triumph of a 14-year managerial career that didn't hit the big time until last summer, paid hoarse-voiced tribute to his Baltimore Orioles Monday after their three-game blitz of Minnesota in the American League's first championship playoff series.

He could afford the luxury of looking back because the Orioles, who had bombed the Twins 11-2 following a pair of extra-inning cliff-hangers, had plenty of time to worry about their upcoming World Series showdown against New York 100-1-shot Mets.

"Before this year," said the cherub-faced Baltimore skipper, "you came in first after 162 games and you were in the series. This time you had to keep winning, winning, winning. And to win three in a row is amazing to me. It shows what a great ball club this is."

The Orioles, who backed Jim Palmer's lock-up pitching with a barrage of 18 hits—Paul Blair and Don Buford combining for half of them—will have four days to regroup before taking on the National League champion Mets Saturday at Baltimore.

For some of them, the wait will be too long.

"Bring on Rod Gaspar... whoever the hell he is!" Frank Robinson shouted in the midst of champagne-quaffing teammates. "He said he wanted us."

Gaspar, a rookie outfielder, reportedly had expressed that sentiment after the Mets nailed the NL's East Division title on the way to a three-game playoff sweep over Atlanta.

"We'll start with him and go

Oddmakers Going for Baltimore

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Bookmakers established Baltimore as an 8-5 favorite Monday to whip the cinderella New York Mets in baseball's World Series beginning Saturday.

Baltimore was listed as a tentative 7-5 favorite to win the Series' opening game.

"We just think Baltimore is a better team," said one legal bookie. "But the Mets could prove surprising. They could be more 'up' than Baltimore," he said.

Odds on the opening game in Baltimore will be firmed when managers name their starting pitchers.

on from there," said Robinson. "Would you believe four games? Would you believe seven in a row?"

In a more serious vein, the Baltimore slugger conceded he believed the Mets were not to be taken lightly. "I never underestimate any ball club," he said. "We think we can beat them, but we're going to give them their due."

"They've got to be good to win their division and then take three straight from the Braves."

After the Orioles nipped Minnesota 4-3 on Blair's 12th-inning squeeze bunt and 1-0 on Curt Motton's pinch single in the 11th, Powell admitted he'd breathe easier if "we went out and scored 10 runs in the first inning."

It took the East Division champs one more inning than that to unwind against Bob Miller, first of seven Minnesota pitchers. Then, doubles by Brooks Robinson and Elrod Hendricks, plus the second of Buford's three singles keyed a three-run burst.

The Twins never recovered. Mark Belanger's triple, a walk and a double by Blair produced two more runs in the fourth; Buford's double and singles by Blair and Frank Robinson got another home in the sixth and Blair cracked the game's lone homer—a two-run wallop—in the eighth.

The Orioles added three wrap-up runs in the ninth with the help of sore-armed Tony Oliva's second error in right field. "We just ran out of pitchers," said Twins pilot Billy Martin, barely masking his deep disappointment. "But I'm very proud of my kids. It could have been a different story if we'd won those two in Baltimore... or even the first one. We had them and we let them get away."

Rib Injury May Sideline Montgomery

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — There is a good chance bruised ribs will keep junior quarterback Bill Montgomery out of the Arkansas lineup Saturday, when the third-ranked Razorbacks play Baylor at Waco, Tex.

Arkansas Coach Frank Broyles announced Monday that Montgomery's ribs were bruised in the Tulsa game two weeks ago and reinjured Saturday in a 24-6 victory over TCU.

"Doctors say Montgomery is a very doubtful starter for the Baylor game," Broyles said.

As a sophomore, Montgomery guided Arkansas to a 10-1 season.

Broyles said John Eichler would start in Montgomery's place. Eichler, a fifth-year senior, was Montgomery's backup man last year after starting several games as a sophomore in 1967. Eichler, who broke his ankle in the middle of the 1967 season, had a fine spring, including 28 of 32 completions in the final spring game.

Broyles also said that a breakdown in Baylor's kicking game resulted in seven touchdowns in the Bears' 63-8 loss to LSU last week. He said the score was misleading.

Broyles also pointed out that the Razorbacks had lost to the Bears in 1966, tied Baylor in 1967 and had to halt a two-point conversion to keep the Bears from tying the score in the fourth period last year.

Defensive end Gordon McNulty, defensive halfback Terry Stewart, offensive guard Jerry Dossey and Eichler will be the game captains Saturday.

Martin Very Evasive About Future

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) — Billy Martin closed out his first year as a big league manager, and he remained evasive today whether he would continue as field boss of the Minnesota Twins.

"I haven't been approached," said Martin, whose Twins lost 11-2 Monday to the Baltimore Orioles and gave the Orioles the American League pennant and a three-game sweep in the first divisional playoffs.

"I haven't talked to anybody," said Martin, the controversial hot-tempered manager who knocked out one of his pitchers in a fight in August. "I haven't said anything. I don't want to say anything. I want to talk about duck hunting and fishing."

Griffith, reached later, said he planned to talk to Martin. "I'll try to talk to him

Porks Stay in 3rd Just Behind Texas

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
The Ohio State Buckeyes, still solid leaders in The Associated Press' major college football poll, next take on Michigan State, the team that gave them their toughest battle during an undefeated 1966 season.

The Buckeyes, who had a 10-0 record last season, including a Rose Bowl triumph over Southern California, were able to beat the Spartans by only five points, 25-20. Michigan State, with a 2-1 record, is ranked 19th this year.

Ohio State, 2-0 in 1966 after wallowing Washington 41-14 last Saturday, drew 34 votes for first-place and accumulated 806 points in the most recent balloting by 41 sports writers and broadcasters on the AP's regional panel.

Texas, which crushed Navy 56-17, climbed from fourth into second place. The Longhorns replaced Penn State, which tumbled to fifth after its 17-14 squeaker victory over Kansas State. Arkansas held third place and Southern California moved up one notch to fourth.

Georgia, in sixth place, Missouri, Oklahoma, Purdue and Tennessee round out the Top Ten.

Georgia and Missouri gained ground. The Bulldogs, seventh a week ago, downed South Carolina 41-16 while Missouri soared two spots after crushing Michigan 40-17. Oklahoma, idle last weekend, fell two positions while Purdue, which just managed to beat Stanford, 36-35, slipped from eighth to ninth. Tennessee, a 55-16 winner over Memphis State, held 10th place.

Notre Dame moved back into the Top Twenty, advancing to 15th after downing Michigan State, 42-28. Nebraska and Auburn are the other newly-ranked teams, finishing in a tie for 20th place. Michigan and Mississippi dropped out of the ratings. Mississippi lost to Alabama, 33-32.

The Second Ten rankings in order are UCLA, 11th, followed by Florida, Alabama, Louisiana State, Notre Dame, Stanford, West Virginia, Wyoming, Michigan State and Nebraska and Auburn in a deadlock.

Texas faces Oklahoma this Saturday while Arkansas plays Baylor and Southern California meets Stanford. Penn State clashes with West Virginia. Georgia takes on Mississippi. Missouri faces Nebraska. Purdue plays Michigan and Tennessee's opponent is Georgia.

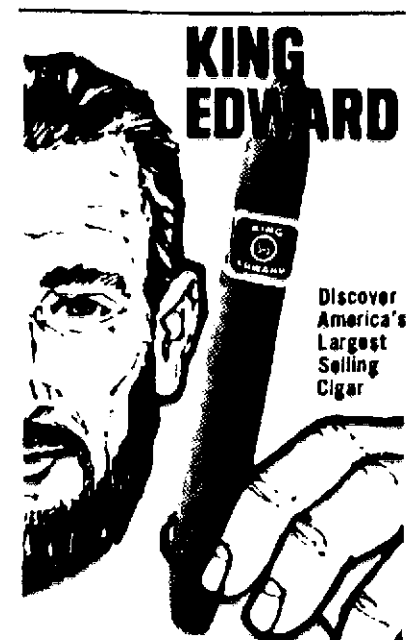

The Top Twenty, with first-place votes in parentheses and points awarded for first 15 picks on basis of 20-18-16-14-12-10-9-8 etc:

1. Ohio State (34)	806
2. Texas (5)	632
3. Arkansas	533
4. S. California (1)	498
5. Penn State (1)	490
6. Georgia	407
7. Missouri	332
8. Oklahoma	319
9. Purdue	268
10. Tennessee	241
11. UCLA	198
12. Florida	168
13. Alabama	145
14. Louisiana St.	142
15. Notre Dame	39
16. Stanford	33
17. West Virginia	28
18. Wyoming	19
19. Michigan St.	16

Wednesday or Thursday," said Griffith. "I will have a long conversation with him. I usually have a long talk before I decide to sign anybody."

Griffith said that the signing of a new contract hinges on their upcoming meeting.

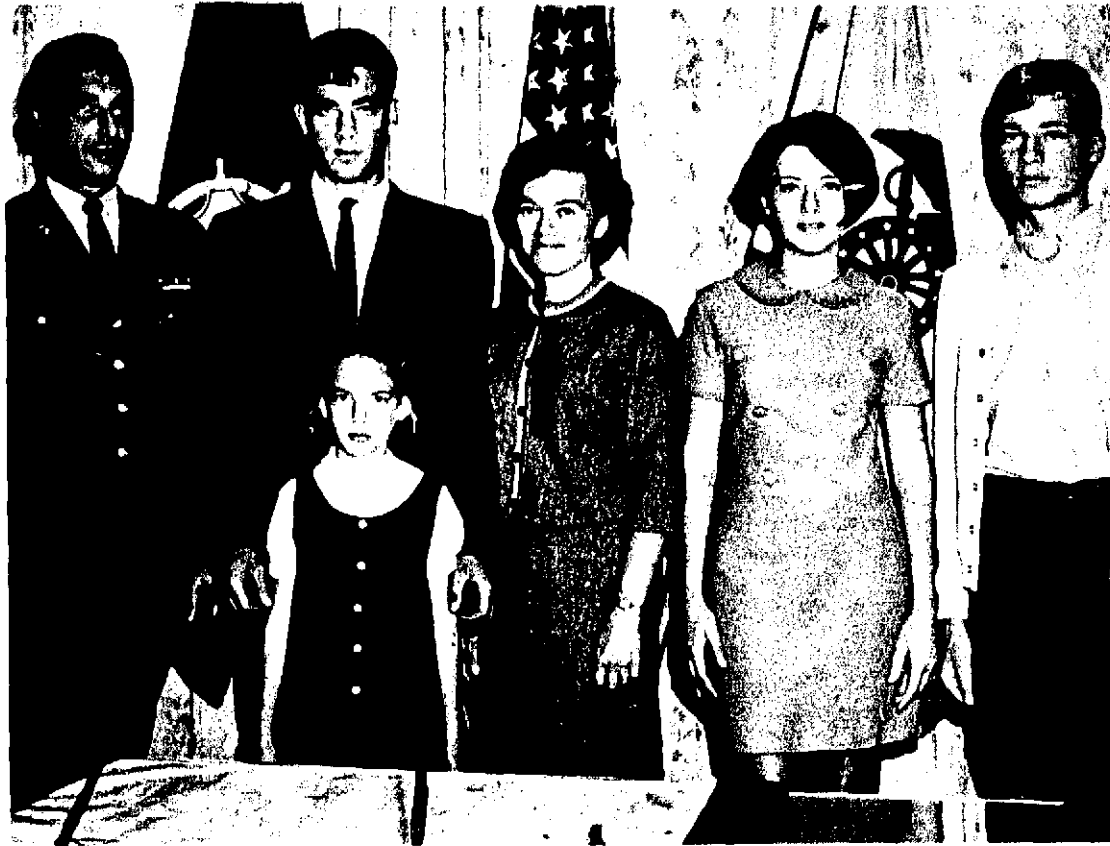

Martin jumped from one controversy to another this season. He gave a blistering critique on the Minnesota farm system for sending a rookie pitcher too far down in the minors. He got into the fight with pitcher Dave Boswell and exchanged salty verbal attacks with various opposing managers.

Mets Become Champagne Team of Loop

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The excitement, lovable, irresistible New York Mets are fast becoming the champagne team of baseball, already counting their bottles before they bubble.

"Nobody can stop us. We're the greatest team in the world right now. We're gonna win it all," roared Cleon Jones.

That's the way it was in the dressing room Monday where the dancing, singing Mets, too young and happy to be restrained, drenched reporters, telecasters, Mayor John Lindsay and club officials in their second champagne party over and second in almost two weeks.

Bubbling over themselves more than the champagne they were spraying at each other, the Mets celebrated their first National League pennant after beating Atlanta 7-4 for a three-game playoff sweep, and now they shouted for more.

"I can't wait for Baltimore," shouted Jones. "We're gonna win four straight and I'm gonna get (Tommy) Agee and go right out fishin' in the boat I just bought."

"We've got our blood up now," Jerry Koosman was saying off in another corner of the hysterical scene. "They (Baltimore) may have statistics to show they have better power hitters, but we've hit better than they did during the playoffs."

The Mets had just finished belting around Atlanta pitching for 27 runs and 37 hits to Atlanta's 15 runs and 27 hits during the three games, something amazing for a team that relied mostly on pitching to win the East Division title.

The Mets' victory gave them 41 wins in their last 52 games.
"I knew if it came down to hitting, we'd be the underdogs," said Manager Gil Hodges. "The hitting by both teams was a surprise."
"I've never seen hitting like this," added Koosman. "These two clubs hit the ball harder and more consistently during this series than any two I've ever seen before."
But Hodges still credited one of his unheralded pitchers, Nolan Ryan, with providing the turning point in the final game that took the Mets another step along one of baseball's most incredible stories.
"The turning point was when Ryan came in," Hodges said, referring to the third inning when Ryan relieved starter Gary Gentry with runners on second and third with none out and the Braves already ahead 2-0.
"He (Ryan) has to strike out (Rico) Carty at that point, or we play again tomorrow," agreed Atlanta general manager Paul Richards.
And Ryan did. And then he struck out Clete Boyer after intentionally walking Orlando Cepeda, and finally got out of the jam by getting Bob Didier on a fly.

HEIDELBERG, GERMANY, Sept. 26 — Mr. Paul Thaxton (Right) is enlisted into the US Army by Colonel C.S. Ledy, Assistant Deputy Chief of Staff, Logistics, US Army in Europe. Paul, the son of Mrs. B. E. Thaxton, Jr. whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Haugland reside at McCaskill Ark. will take his basic training at Fort Dix, N. J. and will then be assigned to Fort Sam Houston, Tex. for training as an X-Ray Technician.
Young Thaxton, the selected "All Europe Offensive End for 1969" in football, is a graduate of the Heidelberg American High School. He also attended the Seoul American High School in Korea from 1965 to 1966. Paul's two sisters and brother live with their parents in Heidelberg Germany where Sergeant Major Thaxton has served as Colonel Ledy's Chief Non-Commissioned Officer for more than two years.

Holy Cross Cancels All Grid Games

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — The Holy Cross football season came to an abrupt halt Monday when it was discovered that the entire 75-man squad had contracted infectious hepatitis.
For 22 seniors and a new head coach, Bill Whitton, the news was just a bit more difficult to swallow.
"I don't think anyone represented Holy Cross football better than you," Whitton told his squad in a final meeting that was not devoid of tears. "My opinion of you has always been high. I've never altered it."
The disease struck a majority of the team members over the weekend, and Sunday night 19 players were crammed into the school infirmary. The results of blood tests showed Monday the entire team had been infected, along with seven coaches, four managers, a trainer and the director of sports information.
Athletic Director Vincent G. Dougherty contracted the remaining eight opponents on Holy Cross' 10-game schedule and informed them it would be impossible to fulfill the school's commitment.
Dr. John Shea, vice president for student affairs, said the college would isolate those affected to prevent the spread of the disease to the remainder of the 2,

Ft. Smith Is Still Leading Grid Team

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — This week's Associated Press poll is a perfect indication of the strength of Fort Smith Northside.
Northside, the top-ranked team in the state for the past several weeks, scored two touchdowns in the fourth quarter to defeat fifth-ranked Springdale 21-7.
After reviewing the accounts of Northside's victory, the 13 sportswriters and sportscasters who voted in the poll left Springdale in the No. 5 slot.
Northside was a unanimous choice for the second week in a row, being named first on all 13 ballots.
Little Rock Hall, Little Rock Catholic, Little Rock Central and Springdale round out the top five as they did last week.
Little Rock McClellan, beaten only by Hall, edged Hot Springs 15-14 and jumped into the No. 6 spot. The Lions were unranked last week.
Hot Springs, ranked ninth last week, dropped out of the top ten as did Camden. Camden was ranked seventh last week, but dropped a 26-14 decision to previously unranked Arkadelphia. Arkadelphia and El Dorado are tied for 10th in this week's poll. El Dorado was also unranked last week.
Sheridan won its fifth straight and remained in the No. 8 spot. Jonesboro, also unbeaten in five games, moved up a notch to ninth.
Sheridan also took over the top spot in Class AA. Arkadelphia took over the No. 2 spot and Camden dropped out of the rankings.
The Class A and Class B rankings remained unchanged with McGehee leading the list in Class A and Mineral Springs the top vote-getter in Class B.
Here are the results of The Associated Press poll with team records and first-place votes in parentheses and total points at right:
1. FS Northside (13) (5-0) 130

DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

Inhaling Fungus Spores Causes Histoplasmosis

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—My doctor says I have histoplasmosis or pigeon's disease and that there is nothing he can do for it because the treatment is too dangerous. Is it contagious? Can it be cured?

A—This disease, similar in its effects to tuberculosis, is caused by inhaling spores of the fungus, Histoplasma capsulatum. They are found in dust that is contaminated by the droppings of birds or bats. It is not transmitted directly from one person to another. Mild cases recover spontaneously. Severe cases can be cured with amphotericin B. But your doctor is right—because of the unpleasant side effects, the drug is reserved for those whose life is threatened by the disease.

relax. Persons who are subject to these attacks should avoid yawning and sighing.

Q—Does washing one's hair under a shower damage the roots?

A—There is no danger to the hair roots, but scalding must be avoided.

Opens 60th Season of Conducting

By STANLEY JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Leopold Stokowski opened his 60th season of conducting in America Monday night with a flash of his old-time temperament that brought cheers from a first-night audience at Carnegie Hall. Almost 100 bars through Franz Liszt's 2nd Hungarian Rhapsody, the 82-year-old maestro stopped the American Symphony Orchestra in midmelody, turned, pushed one of his famous "magic hands" towards an erring player in the bass section, shouted, "out! out!" and started the piece again.

The orchestra responded to his batonless direction and played up a storm with the rousing old warhorse of a tune, The listeners—some had paid $50 for an orchestra seat—shouted for an encore and got it.

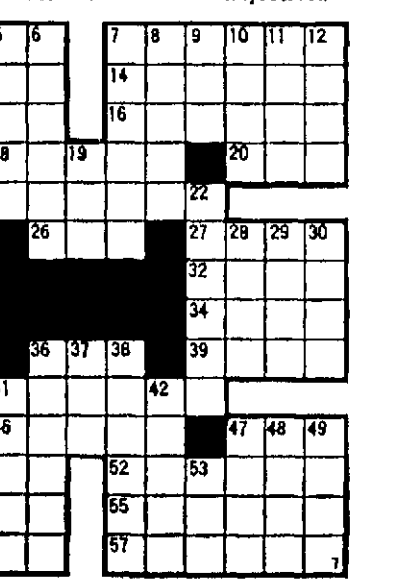

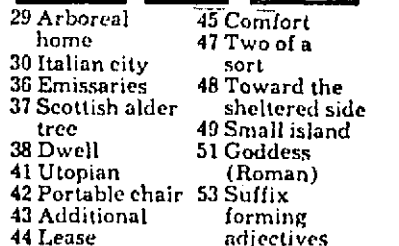

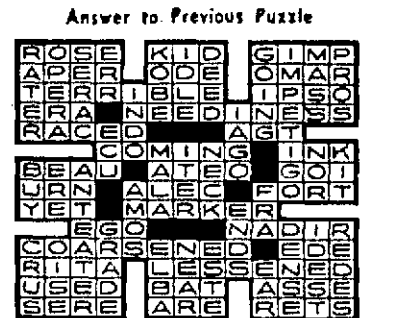

It was a great night for music lovers, provided they loved Liszt's 2nd Hungarian Rhapsody.

Stokowski's white hair was considerably thinner than during the quarter century he led the Philadelphia Orchestra, and his well-known stride to the podium has become more a halting walk, but the music he drew from the orchestra was as youthful and vivid as ever.

"Through some alchemy, Stokowski has found the secret of how to stay young forever," said Philippe de Seynes, U.N. undersecretary-general for economic affairs, in an intermission speech.

An overall view of Ideal Cement Company's Arkansas plant located at Okay, in Howard County.

It was October 10, 1929, Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics were in the process of winning the World Series from the Chicago Cubs in five games. The University of Arkansas had just won its opening football game against Hudson-Brown College. Prohibition was abroad in the land. Wall Street was less than three weeks away from Black Tuesday and the worst crash in history.

On that same day a tall-stacked steam locomotive puffed out of Ideal Cement Company's new plant at Okay, Arkansas carrying 125 car-loads of Ideal Cement to customers all over the state.

Ideal is marking the 40th Anniversary of its plant's operation with a party at the top of the Rock attended by Arkansas' leaders in business, civic affairs, politics and construction, as well as a dozen company executives here especially for the occasion. Ideal Cement is the largest producer of portland cement on the North American continent with facilities ranging from Florida to Alaska.

M. R. Shilling, President of Ideal Cement Company, points out that since 1929, the Ideal plant in Arkansas has produced over 47 million barrels of cement—all of it good. That's enough cement, he said, to build a four-lane super highway more than five thousand miles long. Enough cement to build one four-lane super highway from Seattle, Washington to Miami, Florida plus another from the Canadian border to Brownsville, Texas.

The last 40 years have seen tremendous progress in the cement and construction industries, Shilling said. In the 1920's cement manufacturing was a strenuous, back-breaking process but today modern equipment assumes the heavy labor and Ideal employees are left free to concentrate on improving and maintaining the quality of their product.

The Ideal plant at Okay, Arkansas, in Howard County, uses some of the largest pieces of moving equipment in all of Arkansas. One of the two kilns alone 375 feet in length and 9 feet 6 inches in diameter. The other is nearly 300 feet in length and 11½ feet in diameter. Rigid chemical specifications for Ideal Cement make quality control a top priority item. Chemical and physical analyses are made at every step of the production process. Vast quantities of fuel and power are also required to operate the heavy equipment and produce the chemical changes. The Ideal plant in Howard County annually uses more than two billion cubic feet of natural gas and more than 33 million kilowatt hours of electric power.

Sales Manager for Ideal Cement Company is Leon Cantwell, a 14-year veteran with Ideal. Plant Manager of the Okay plant is Byron Thompson. He worked at the plant off and on while attending college and has been with Ideal on a permanent basis since 1955. Ideal Cement is a division of Ideal Basic Industries, Inc.

Ideal's history in Arkansas goes back to the mid-1920's when an Ideal employee, Joe Hargis, was sent to the southwest corner of the state to find good limestone deposits, adequate for producing portland cement. After extensive exploratory drilling and testing, the Okay site was selected, 35 miles outside of Texarkana. Today Joe Hargis is Ideal's Chief Chemist in Arkansas. Jack Tollett, who helped build the plant and set all the equipment in good working order.

Ideal brought wealth to Arkansas in the form of new jobs, taxes and expenditures for power, gas and other materials; and for 40 years has made a steady, stable contribution to the state. The original plant had an annual capacity of less than one million barrels of cement (a barrel of cement is 376 pounds or four sacks of cement.) Today the plant capacity is more than two million barrels annually. In the years since 1929, millions of dollars have been spent modernizing and improving the plant's production facilities. As technological advancements have been proven, Ideal has quickly incorporated them into the production facility. On its

40th anniversary the plant is as modern as today and ready for the future, Shilling said. Ideal Cement Company also owns the Louisiana Nevada Transit Company which supplies gas to the plant and several communities in the area. Another subsidiary is the Graysonia, Nashville & Ashdown Railroad. The GN&A has 32 miles of track connecting with the Missouri-Pacific at Nashville and the Kansas City Southern & Frisco at Ashdown.

The Wall Street crash, prohibition and Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics have all passed into history but Ideal Cement Company and its plant in Howard County is still very much a part of the Arkansas scene and, the Ideal President says, an important part of the Arkansas future.

Green Beret Confident of Acquittal

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Green Beret Capt. John J. McCarthy Jr. says he is "confident I will be acquitted" of the murder of a Cambodian aide in Vietnam, for which he spent nearly two years in confinement.

McCarthy started a month-long home leave with his family Monday after his release by the Army pending his appeal to the Court of Military Review. He had been held at the disciplinary barracks at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., since January 1968. Asked whether the dropping of charges against eight other Green Berets accused of slaying a South Vietnamese agent might have led to his release, McCarthy said, "The only parallel is that we all belong to the same unit."

McCarthy, 26, flew to Phoenix and was met by his wife, his three children and his parents. "It's good to be home," he said. "I've been assigned to Ft. Huachuca, (in Arizona) but I haven't been told yet what my

Communist Teacher Finds Backing

By RICHARD E. MEYER
Associated Press Writer
LOS ANGELES (AP) — Students applauded the first lecture by a mislabeled young Communist assistant professor Monday, then asked other faculty members to quit teaching until University of California regents give academic credit for her course.

Shapely Angela Davis, 25, drew an overflow crowd of 1,900 students to the university's Royce Hall and about 100 were turned away for lack of room.

"I'd like to lecture," she said. "I don't think we ought to allow the regents to interfere." The audience gave her a standing ovation after her talk on black literature and adopted resolutions demanding a faculty classroom boycott until the young Negro is granted full reinstatement.

Miss Davis was fired by the regents last month because she has said she is a member of a Communist club. A committee of the academic senate demanded that she be permitted to teach. The regents ruled Friday that she can teach, but not for credit, until they hear an appeal from their original decision.

Meanwhile Miss Davis continues to receive her $9,684 annual salary.

Miss Davis, her hair in African natural style, sprinkled her lecture with quotations from Karl Marx, existentialist Jean Paul Sartre and philosopher Herbert Marcuse.

Her course is called "Recurring Philosophical Themes in Black Literature."

McCarthy was convicted by court-martial in Long Binh, Vietnam, of the murder of In-chin Hai Lam. The aide was shot while in a car on a road outside Saigon.

Hammerschmidt Tells About Hope Melon

In late September, I visited the White House to present to President Nixon a gift from the people of Hope — the prize watermelon grown this year near "The Watermelon Capital of the World."

The melon was accepted in a ceremony in the East Garden outside of the White House by Secretary of Agriculture Clifford Hardin. Hardin was a last minute stand-in for the President who was preparing for a major news conference held within a few minutes of the time of our presentation.

Secretary Hardin expressed amazement at the size of the watermelon. He said some Georgia growers had heard about it, and were going to try to top its weight and dimensions: 153 pounds, 25 inches long, 21 inches wide, 18½ inches high.

The Hope Chamber of Commerce sponsored the contest to determine the prize melon of the season, and send it to the President. The grower of the prizewinner was Lester B. Kent of Route 1, Hope. His watermelon topped any other grown, not only this year but since before World War II.

Many people had a hand in the project. At the forefront were the President of the Hope Chamber of Commerce, George Frazier, and the Chamber Manager, B.N. Holt. Two other Hope residents who helped with plans for the presentation were Mrs. Margaret Harris and Mrs. Jerri Pruden.

It was quite a job merely getting the world's largest watermelon crated and shipped by air freight to my Washington office. It took two strong men and a truck to move it from my office to the White House for the ceremony.

My sincere thanks to all the citizens who helped provide the memorable opportunity to let the nation know more about Arkansas, and especially about Hope, Arkansas — "The Watermelon Capital of the World."

I invite your views. Write Congressman John Paul Hammerschmidt, House of Representatives, Washington, D. C. 20515.

The final round of the 1969 Spingold Cup found "The Dallas Aces" pitted against the very strong New York team of Ira Rubin, Jeff Westheimer, Sam Stayman, Victor Mitchell, Bill Grieve and Phil Feldman. Every member of this team except Westheimer had represented the United States in international competition and they had been seeded No. 1 for the knockout matches, as against No. 2 for "The Dallas Aces."

Seed or no seed, the "Aces" broke in front on board No. 1 and never looked back. They carried a 29-IMP lead at the end of the first quarter and increased it each succeeding quarter to wind up with a 92-IMP victory.

On the first hand, use of the Jacoby Transfer bid by Billy Eisenberg and Bob Goldman led to a 450-point, or 10-IMP, pickup.

The no-trump opening was normal and Goldman's two-diamond response was a transfer to hearts. East doubled to ask for a diamond lead against the eventual contract. This gave Eisenberg a chance to show some heart strength by his immediate bid of two hearts, whereupon Bobby jumped to three no-trump to give Bill the choice between playing no-trump or hearts. Billy elected to play in no-trump.

West opened the seven of diamonds and East could have beaten the hand two tricks by going right up with the ace and playing his jack of spades but East wasn't looking at all the cards and chose to play the diamond nine.

Billy took his king and proceeded to run off his contract with five hearts and three clubs.

The Rubin team pair that held the North-South cards were not using the transfer bid and North wound up going down one at four hearts.

Admits Setting Fire to Mosque in Jerusalem

By MARCUS ELIASON
Associated Press Writer
JERUSALEM (AP) — Michael Denis Rohan's attorney admitted in court today that the young Australian mystic set fire to the Al Aksah Mosque on Aug. 21 but claimed he was guiltless because of "mental illness."

The insanity plea on the second day of the trial failed to win a suspension of the proceedings. The three Israeli judges agreed with the prosecution that the hearing should continue.

Defense attorney Yitzhak Tunk claimed the 28-year-old sheepshearer "suffered from mental disease as a result of which he was not in a position to be of lucid mind."

"As a result of the mental disease the accused suffered during that period, he cannot be punished in accordance with the charges in the indictment."

Tunk did not specify the disease and requested that any medical examination ordered by the court be delayed indefinitely.

"It is impossible for me to reveal more than I have said at this stage," he added.

Walter Hagen, Father of Golf, Dies

TRAVERSE CITY, Mich. (AP) — Charles Walter Hagen, the father of modern professional golf and one of its most colorful stars on and off the course, died of cancer about midnight Sunday. He was 76.

Hagen had been in a coma about 10 days and he died in his estate here.

Hagen underwent throat surgery in January 1967, third such operation since a cancerous larynx was removed in 1964.

One of "The Haig's" last public appearance came in August 1967 when many of the great and near-great of golf gathered in this northwest Michigan resort for a testimonial sponsored by his local friends.

Among them was current star Arnold Palmer who, in a moving tribute to a man he idolized, said, "If it were not for you, Walter, this dinner tonight would be downstairs in the pro shop and not in the ballroom."

"The Haig," as he was reverently known throughout the golf world was one of the first men in sport to earn more than a million dollars, of how he made it—and spent it—are legion.

"I never wanted to be a millionaire. I just wanted to live like one," Hagen wrote in his autobiography.

"He's in golf to live—not make a living," Chick Evans, a former U.S. Open winner, has said.

Just under 6 feet, with weather-beaten features and hair slicked down in the fashion of his era's matinee idols, Hagen won the U.S. Open in 1914, repeated in 1919 and finished in the money until his playing days were over.

He was the only man ever to win the Professional Golfers Association title five times or four times in a row. He won it in 1922, 1924, 1925, 1926, 1927.

In 1922, he became the first American-born pro to win the British Open with a victory that spelled the beginning of the end to British domination of the sport. He won that title four times.

Hagen also whipped the legendary amateur Bobby Jones 12-up and 11-holes-to-play in a 72-hole match. It brought him the biggest purse ever won by a pro until then—$7,800. He bought Jones a $1,000 watch.

Although the triumph seemed to establish "The Haig" as world champion, he shrugged off the label. He said the match showed only that a champion could beat another champion on any given day if one was "up" and the other wasn't.

Hagen was regarded as the best shotmaker in golf and was never happier than when behind and in trouble. It gave him the chance to pull off shots that made a gallery gasp and he revelled in it.

"He had more shots than anybody in golf, then or now," says Al Watrous, dean of Michigan pros and a frequent Hagen opponent.

Born in Rochester, N.Y., Hagen was introduced to golf as caddy.

He left the game 40 years later the close friend and playing partner of presidents and kings, grateful he had shunned a promising career in major league baseball.

Hagen is regarded as the man who opened country club doors to the men who play for pay at a time when professionals were tolerated, not lionized.

"Hagen led his fellow pros out of bondage," the Detroit News once said. "He won more than 75 tournaments and over a million dollars. He gave his victory medals to friends as souvenirs and spent his winnings on their entertainment."

Saying, "I just couldn't bear to shoot another 80," Hagen quit competitive golf about 1940.

He played socially until 1945. Then he quit altogether except for hitting occasional shots from the lawn of his lakeside estate some 10 miles west of Traverse City.

Twice divorced, Hagen moved here 11 years ago. He lived in a trim, stone and frame split-level on 20 acres with his secretary-housekeeper of 15 years, Doris Brandis.

A son, Walter Jr. of Detroit, survives. Funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Hagen was 21 when he captured his first U.S. Open. He later added victories in the British Open in 1922, 1924, 1928 and 1929 and in the prestigious Western Open in 1916, 1921, 1926 and 1927.

After his competitive playing days ended, Hagen directed operations of the Hagen Golf Co. in Grand Rapids until 1945 when the firm became a division of Wilson Sporting Goods Corp.

Until his death he took part in conferences on design and new things. "She was the one who would dare to sneak out at night, and be willing to accept the punishment for it. It she came in later than she was supposed to come in, as she did frequently, she got a tongue lashing and took it in good spirits.

"She used to be spanked. When a child knows why he's being punished, not in anger or brutality, he should be punished. So she's had her good share of spankings.

"So when I heard, indirectly, that she might be going with a group that was experimenting around, I brought it out, as I do everything.

strings attached. "I do not recall any statement of that type being made in my presence—no, sir," Duellman testified.

Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., acting chairman of the subcommittee, ordered that Conlisk be requested to appear and clear up the matter.

The hearing room was full and dozens of persons stood in the rear of the room as Turner said he cannot account for all the weapons he received from the two police departments and from Fort Worth, Tex., because his record book could not be found.

Turner, who was appointed chief U.S. marshal after his 33-year military career, resigned abruptly early last month from the new Justice Department job.

A subcommittee investigator testified Monday that Turner persuaded police chiefs in Chicago and Kansas City to give him hundreds of confiscated rifles, shotguns and handguns.

The investigator said many of the guns—some of which turned up in an illegal five-ton cache of weapons being sent to rebels in Haiti—were sold by Turner for private gain, even though the officer had signed receipts stating they were to be used for Army training.

Witnesses last week accused Turner of a coverup and a "god-damn fix" for allegedly blocking investigation into the affairs of Sergeant Major of the Army William O. Woodbridge.

The subcommittee has heard allegations Woodbridge was leader of a clique of sergeants who systematically looted the funds, equipment, food and liquor of the noncommissioned officers clubs they ran in Germany, South Vietnam and the United States.

In 1967—the year he allegedly blocked the Woodbridge investigation in the Army's Criminal Investigations Division—Turner was presented with the Enforcement Award by the Association of Federal Investigators. He also got a special award for merit from the Federal Bureau of Investigation.

Col. James C. Shultz, Turner's executive officer in 1967, testified Friday that when he complained to the general that charges against Woodbridge were serious and should be followed up, Turner ordered him out of his office.

"He told me Sgt. Maj. Woodbridge was just a very simple fellow and people took advantage of him frequently," Shultz said after reciting a list of accusations against Woodbridge that included a role in multi-million dollar thefts and conspiracy to manipulate U.S. and South Vietnamese currency.

Search on for Escapees and Kidnappers

DES MONES, Iowa, (AP)—The search for two Kansas jail escapees who forced an Arkansas minister and a Missouri pilot to fly them here is continuing.

Authorities said they were searching for James John Byrnes, 41, of Waterloo, Iowa, and Ronald Earl Archer, 20, of Medora, Kan.

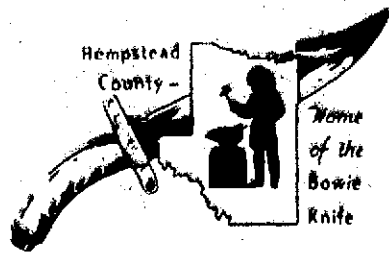

In 25 years of competition "The Haig" began a new legend almost every time he swung a club—or hoisted a drink, which vied with squirling lovely ladies as his favorite activity besides golf.

It wasn't a drink to Hagen. He called them "hyposonics" and relates in his autobiography that he often stopped for a quick one as he came off the 18th green in the 36-hole championship matches he rarely lost.

"I never hurry. I never worry. And I always stop to smell the flowers along the way," Hagen was fond of saying.

Unlimited Debt Authority Is Flaw in U.S. Government

The extent to which the American people have lost control of their federal government is measured by the fact that Congress is preoccupied with a proposed constitutional amendment to abolish the Electoral College while at the same time ignoring a vastly more needed reform—to prohibit the government from going into debt except in time of war.

Abolishment of the Electoral College in order to provide for election of the President by direct vote of the people is a popular idea but of uncertain worth. Our Founding Fathers believed in the right of the people to vote, but also recognized the tyranny of popular majorities that could conceivably wreck the Republic—therefore they established the Electoral College to dislodge the popular vote into state unit votes. Whether today's Americans are smarter than the men who wrote what at the time was declared to be the world's finest charter of human freedom is open to question—and you can list your editor as one of the doubters.

But abolition of the Electoral College is popular; therefore the proposed amendment has passed the House and is headed for the Senate—with President Nixon's blessing.

On the other hand, no one in Washington seems interested in a constitutional prohibition against putting the nation into debt in peace-time. You can understand why. Such a prohibition would give the people a leverage against the government—creating a reference point marking the accountability of public officials. But federal officials like things the way they are—with no limitation on debt, and no accountability. Thus the people are excluded from government.

The effect of abolishment of the Electoral College is at best uncertain. But the least that can be said of a policy permitting a nation to spend more than it takes in with taxes decade after decade is that it's certain to encourage inflation and end in currency devaluation and national bankruptcy.

Do I sound like a "far out" prophet of doom? Hardly. I am only stating what every thinking citizen in America knows in his heart to be true.

It's a truth he recognizes in his private life.

It's a truth he compels officials of local government to recognize.

But a truth he forgets when measuring the march of events in Washington, D. C. — covering it up with the outrageous lie that the federal government is a "special case."

Debt has no "special cases." Because of the ever-rising national debt currency devaluation is already upon us—you know this, because prices now are three to four times what they were at the beginning of this generation.

We put no limitation on debt at the Washington level—but the proposed new Constitution for Arkansas which this newspaper published in full last Oct. 2 has this to say about debt at the local level:

Page 28; Article 6 (Local Government); Section 9 (Limitations of County Expenditures):

"Section 9. The governing body of a county shall not make any payment or authorize any contract, warrant, or other evidence of indebtedness in excess of the revenues of such county for the current fiscal year, except as authorized in this Constitution. The General Assembly may establish procedures permitting counties to borrow money from the State or its agencies and to secure the repayment thereof by a pledge of their revenues for succeeding fiscal years."

Asks Officer to Tell About His Gun Deals

By LAWRENCE L. KNUTSON

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maj.

Gen. Carl C. Turner testified today the police chiefs of Chicago and Kansas City knew the more than 500 confiscated weapons turned over to him were for his personal use and not the Army.

Witnesses had told the Senate investigations subcommittee that the former provost marshal general of the Army had signed a receipt saying the guns were for Army training. They said Turner sold some of the guns.

The retired general, saying he had lost all his gun records, hit the witness table with karate-like chops of his hand as he testified:

"Those weapons were not for the use of the Army. They were going to destroy them and they gave them to me personally."

Turner, 56, was confronted with Chicago police Lt. Paul Duellman who testified the general signed a receipt in his presence on four occasions stating the 397 weapons he got were to be used for Army training and to be destroyed when no longer of use to the military.

Turner said he had been assured by Chicago Police Superintendent James Conlisk he could have the guns with no

Art Linkletter Says Parents Should Tell Children About Drugs

By GENE HANDSAKER

Associated Press Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Art

Linkletter says parents should learn the truth about drugs, alcohol and narcotics—"and get this information to their children in a memorable, sensible, nonpamphlet way. Repetitive."

Today, in private, graveside services at Forest Lawn Memorial Park, the Linkletter family buries daughter Diane, 20, whose death plunge Saturday he blames on LSD—"a tiger in her bloodstream."

From the fifth grade up, the entertainer says, children "should be grounded as thoroughly in the dangers of putting chemicals into their system as they are in walking across a superhighway with their eyes shut."

The television star and businessman, already a lecturer to college and other groups on "the permissiveness of this society," said:

"I intend now to step that up and give it more point. I think my daughter's death is going to be paid for many, many times by the kinds of things I can say and get done, using this as an example."

Diane, youngest of five Linkletter children, plunged from the kitchen window of a sixth-floor apartment where she had lived about eight months. By phone, from seclusion with his wife Lois and son Robert, 24, in their Lake Tahoe cabin, Linkletter said:

"Since this has happened to Diane, you cannot imagine the number of people who have called, wired, written me—important people, well known, who have daughters in sanitariums, sons in sanitariums, children who have killed themselves. They have hushed this up as a terrible family secret."

"All of a sudden they're coming out and telling me... his voice choked and halted... "They'll join me—"

In publicizing these evils? "Yes," he said. "Many are lawyers, bankers, so-called community pillars of decency... journalists." He knows none personally.

Linkletter, 57, said he doesn't have all the answers, but "I've been as good a parent as I could possibly be, I think. We've been a very close family. We've done everything you do according to the book—taken vacations together, gone on pack trips together, traveled extensively all over the world."

"We've been a good Christian family. My wife and I have tried to set a good example by being a good example."

"We have tried to keep our children up to date on what the dangerous things are, but perhaps we did not bear down as hard as we should have."

"Diane, of all the children, was always the most daring. She was the most emotionally up and down. She was either on top of the mountain or in the valley of despair—over trivial

WASHINGTON (AP) — Judge

Clement F. Haynsworth says he would be willing to put his financial holdings under a trusteeship to "avoid any further suggestion of conflict of interest" if the Senate approves his appointment to the Supreme Court.

This word from the White House Monday came as both supporters and critics of the nomination worked to ready reports on Haynsworth's fitness to sit on the high court.

Haynsworth's leading opponent, Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., had been going through a stack of financial records. He said a preliminary look had led him to

The 'Project Astronaut' Successful

"Project Astronaut," a nationwide venture to proclaim the right of American astronauts to voice religious sentiments in space, has proved to be an overwhelming success.

Local civic clubs and churches joined with people in every state and 17 foreign countries in writing more than 2.5 million letters to the National Aeronautics and Space Administration endorsing the religious theme of the messages broadcast to earth by the Apollo 8 astronauts while they orbited the moon last Christmas Eve. It took a 1.5-ton truck to deliver the letters to NASA headquarters September 24, and since then a great many more bags of mail have come in.

After the self-proclaimed atheist, Madalyn Murray O'Hair, claimed to have obtained 20,000 signatures to a statement protesting the Apollo Christmas message, William Mansdoerfer, an announcer for Family Radio Stations, Inc., San Francisco, Calif., suggested that supporters of the astronauts ought to counter the objections with 100,000 signatures from persons approving a mixture of space and religion. The response was tremendous.

Ken Curtis, center, better known as Festus of the famous TV program, Guns Smoke, can hardly believe his eyes at the size of two Hope giants, a 108 pound pumpkin and a 105 pound watermelon.

Festus performed on Channel 11 at the Arkansas State Livestock show fairgrounds and was a featured star at the Fair's Rodeo. Festus insisted he show them on his TV program.

Trespassing Study Asked

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — State Rep. Roscoe E. Brown of Jonesboro has asked the Arkansas Legislative Council to study laws against trespassing, the possible need for a state jail inspector and the latest trend in movies.

The study and subsequent recommendations would be in the best interest of the state, Brown said.

Brown said he was "appalled at what our young people have a chance to see and hear on the screen."

He said he realized that movies were rated but said everyone should let his wishes be known. He suggested that the age limit for restricted-rated movies be raised from 16 to 18.

Treaty Near on Ocean Bed Destruction

GENEVA (AP) — The United States and the Soviet Union presented today a draft treaty to ban nuclear arms and other weapons of mass destruction from the sea bed.

The two superpowers agreed on a compromise joint draft after seven months of bargaining and submitted it to the 25-nation disarmament conference.

The draft of the treaty which the Soviet Union put before the conference on March 18 called for a ban on all types of weapons and military installations from the sea bed. The United States refused to accept this because it would ban such defensive devices as submarine tracking stations.

The Russians gave way on this point and accepted the provision of a draft submitted by the United States May 22 in which the ban would be restricted to nuclear arms and weapons of mass destruction.

In return, the United States dropped its proposal that the ban come into force at the three-mile limit and accepted the Soviet 12-mile limit. This was favored also by most other delegations at the conference.

The treaty would come into force after ratification by the United States, the Soviet Union

Two of five persons indicted by a special Grand Jury called to investigate the Dec. 25, 1968 murder of Larry Yates, 19, entered pleas of guilty in Hempstead Circuit Court yesterday and were given two year suspended sentences.

Judge W.H. Arnold III suspended the sentences of William Waller and Larry Walker on good behavior. They pleaded guilty to burglary of Martin's Shoe Store and the Hope High School about Easter 1967.

The case developed during the probe of the Yates slaying. Dennis Turner, also indicted in the burglary, entered a plea of not guilty. Dennis Turner was also indicted for robbery of Larry Yates and a motion by the defense for dismissal of the charge will be heard in Circuit Court here October 20.

In connection with the two burglaries Richard Turner was given immunity by Jury for giving evidence to the group, he was indicted on charge of being an accessory to the robbery of Larry Yates. A motion by the State to consolidate the cases in connection with the robbery will be heard at the October 20 session. Richard Turner entered a plea of not guilty in connection with the robbery.

Johnny Mitchell indicted by the Jury on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor entered a plea of not guilty. A hearing has been set for October 20.

In other action Mitchell Henderson, charged with four counts of forgery and uttering, pleaded guilty and was placed on five years probation.

Young Yates was shot five times in the back and side and his body was found on a rural road some five miles east of Hope Christmas morning. Dennis Turner stood trial for the murder in April and was acquitted by a jury.

Shortly after the trial Judge Arnold called the Grand Jury to investigate all aspects of the case. In its report released Monday the Jury was highly critical of the investigation of the slaying by Sheriff's Department and the Criminal Investigation Division of the Arkansas State Police.

Using River to Clean Creek

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Army Engineers Monday began a five-day "fluctuation" of the Arkansas River at David D. Terry Lock and Dam to try to flush the stagnant water and pollutants from Fourche Creek. The creek runs into the Arkansas River about five miles upstream from the dam, but the water has been backed up in the creek since the lock gates were closed last fall.

The stagnant water in Fourche is covered with green and brown algae, has dead fish, paper sacks and tree limbs floating in it.
